Intended Learning Outcomes (ILO)

On completion of the course the students will be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

1. Demonstrate knowledge of what marketing management means in practice including that marketing is a company-spanning and global process.

2. Demonstrate that they know and comprehend relevant marketing concepts.

3. Describe the need and use of marketing information within organisations.

Skills and abilities

4. Analyse marketing problems from a business perspective.

Judgement and approach

5. Conceptualise a market offering from the company's and consumer's perspective.

6. Critically evaluate the use of marketing strategy by local and global organisations operating in diverse industries.

Contents

The course introduces the students to the key concepts and models associated with marketing and the marketing process within the organisation. The course not only presents the theoretical aspects of marketing but also its application in practice as it is used by diverse organisations. The course includes a discussion of marketing ethics as well as covering examples of themes in the contemporary marketing discourse.

Connection to Research and Practice

The course requires the student to carry out research into theoretical themes in marketing and applying them to the needs and actions of organizations. The course covers the renewal of markets and the changes that are evident in consumers and markets. The course includes conducting research with companies to understand practical challenges of marketing.

Type of instruction

The course includes lectures and seminars. Problem-based learning is emphasised. Students are expected to plan and take responsibility for self-studies, including reading assigned course literature and completing group assignments.

The teaching is conducted in English.

The teaching is conducted in English.

Prerequisites

30 credits in Business Administration or Economics or equivalent.

Examination and grades

The course is graded A, B, C, D, E, FX or F.

Registration of examination:

Name of the Test	Value	Grading
Individual written exam ¹	3.5 credits	A/B/C/D/E/FX/F
Group project ¹	2.5 credits	A/B/C/D/E/FX/F
Individual seminar assignment ¹	1.5 credits	A/B/C/D/E/FX/F

¹ All parts of the compulsory examination in the course must be passed with a passing grade (A-E) before a final grade can be set. The final grade of the course is determined by the sum total of points for all parts of the examination in the course (0-100 points). Grade is set in accordance to JIBS grading policy.

Course evaluation

It is the responsibility of the examiner to ensure that each course is evaluated. At the outset of the course, evaluators must be identified (elected) among the students. The course evaluation is carried out continuously as well as at the end of the course. On the completion of the course the course evaluators and course examiner discuss the course evaluation and possible improvements. A summary report is created and archived. The reports are followed up by program directors and discussed in program groups and with relevant others (depending on issue e.g. Associate Dean of Education, Associate Dean of faculty, Director of PhD Candidates, Dean and Director of Studies). The next time the course runs, students should be informed of any measures taken to improve the course based on the previous course evaluation.

Other information

Academic integrity

JIBS students are expected to maintain a strong academic integrity. This implies to behave within the boundaries of academic rules and expectations relating to all types of teaching and examination.

Copying someone else's work is a particularly serious offence and can lead to disciplinary action. When you copy someone else's work, you are plagiarizing. You must not copy sections of work (such as paragraphs, diagrams, tables and words) from any other person, including another student or any other author. Cutting and pasting is a clear example of plagiarism. There is a workshop and online resources to assist you in not plagiarizing called the Interactive Anti-Plagiarism Guide.

Other forms of breaking academic integrity include (but are not limited to) adding your name to a project you did not work on (or allowing someone to add their name), cheating on an examination, helping other students to cheat and submitting other students work as your own, and using non-allowed electronic equipment during an examination. All of these make you liable to disciplinary action.
